

System Upgrades

Dear blog user,

The service provider I use for this website used Google Feed Burner to send you individual emails of the daily blog. Google have closed this down.

I am afraid the new system we are installing to replace the old one requires you to re-register. If you would like to, please put your email address into the "free email alerts" box any time from tomorrow ( Thursday 20th October ) onwards to continue to receive the email version.

Yours sincerely

John Redwood