

More economic pain and hardship isn't what people voted for, says Carla Denyer

2. Press Releases

Responding to Keir Starmer's speech in which he said that the Labour government has inherited a £22bn black hole in the nation's finances, as well as a "societal black hole", co-leader of the Green Party Carla Denyer MP said:

"Enduring more economic pain and hardship isn't what people voted for. They were told they were voting for change. Not voting for things to get worse before they get better. Labour needs to be honest about the fact that they could choose to make things better for everyone if they were bolder and braver.

"What is being framed as tough choices is actually about political choices. People don't need a constant reminder that the Tories broke Britain. They need a new approach, not misguided fiscal rules that are set to make things worse.

"We must generate the funds needed for investment by shifting the burden away from the poorest onto the wealthiest. Labour's refusal to tax the super-rich shows that business as usual is very much still in business.

"Keir Starmer says the violent riots earlier this month exposed a deeply unhealthy society. But the health of a society can't be improved if it is forced to swallow the same failed medicine. The government can choose to provide the investment our communities are crying out for. This would help create hope and unleash the goodness of people to improve their communities."

27 August 2024 / 27 August 2024 by Andrew Bell

Press Releases

Adblock test (Why?)

Greens respond to new energy price cap

rise

2. Press Releases

Responding to news that energy regulator Ofgem has raised the price cap by 9.5 per cent just before the onset of winter, Green Party co-leader Carla Denyer said:

“Consumers are paying high prices for a crisis not of their making. This will be deeply worrying news for all those people already struggling to pay their bills.

“The government has said that establishing GB Energy will reduce bills in the future, which would be welcome. However, that aim will only be achieved if the government invests in improving the energy efficiency of homes too.

“We need a nationwide programme of government-backed, council-delivered home insulation starting immediately to help people keep their bills down for good.

“We also now need the government to maintain the winter fuel payments for all pensioners and end means testing so that they know they can afford to keep warm.

“We could reduce bills for the long term and help reduce greenhouse gas emissions by building new homes that are easier and cheaper to heat and boosting insulation in existing homes. Insulating people’s homes means they can stay warm while using less energy, save money and produce fewer harmful carbon emissions.”

23 August 2024 by Paul Corry

Press Releases

Adblock test \(Why?\)

Green Party reaction to expansion of London City airport

2. Press Releases

Reacting to news that the government has given the go-ahead for the expansion of London City airport, deputy leader of the Green Party, Zack Polanski, said:

“This decision flies in the face of action to cut emissions. A government that fails to tackle emissions from transport fails to take serious climate action.

“Expanding London City airport puts the interests of a small wealthy elite over the wellbeing of local people and the climate. This airport operates low-efficiency planes on routes where rail is a feasible alternative.

“Prioritising clean, affordable train travel over polluting air travel is a no-brainer, but Labour have demonstrated they just don’t get it.”

20 August 2024 / 20 August 2024 by Andrew Bell

Press Releases

Adblock test \(Why?\)

Government support for nature-friendly farming pays off says Adrian Ramsay

2. Press Releases

Reacting to a new Natural England report that found nature-friendly farming schemes have boosted biodiversity, co-leader of the Green Party Adrian Ramsay MP said:

“The UK is one of the most nature-depleted countries in the world and we urgently need to address the enormous risk that habitat and biodiversity loss poses to our future.

“Most farmers want to do the right thing for nature and this report clearly shows that Government support for nature-friendly farming pays off. Now we need to see more of it.

“Farmers have told me they need reassurance, certainty, and easier access to funding for nature-friendly farming, so it is very disappointing that the Labour Government has so far refused to commit to maintaining the current level of support payments.

“I urge the Government to show leadership and not only commit to maintaining the current level of funding, but to listen to the many calls, including from the RSPB, National Trust and The Wildlife Trusts, for a massive increase in nature-friendly farming support.

“We do not have to have an ‘either-or’ between nature restoration and food production; with more leadership from the Government, we can achieve both.”

12 August 2024 / 12 August 2024 by Andrew Bell

Press Releases

Adblock test \(Why?\)

Violent disorder is fascism say Greens

Commenting on the street violence affecting communities across England, Green MP Siân Berry said:

“What we are witnessing on our streets is fascist violence fueled by racism and Islamophobia. Only by naming it and understanding clearly what it is can we work to defeat it.

“The rise of the far right and fascism has been fueled by toxic and divisive rhetoric from some in the previous government [1] We must demand better from our new government, and I hope that ministers will now step up and deliver.

“It is also important to ask what the police and security services have been doing to monitor the far right over the past decade. We have to question if a focus on monitoring Muslim citizens and climate protesters has allowed the far more sinister menace of fascism to ferment.

“We need to bring those responsible for instigating the violence to justice, but this won’t be enough to defeat an ideology which uses organised political violence to undermine our society, divide communities and compromise the state and its institutions, including the judiciary and the police.

“The engine that drives fascism is racism, so ministers need to speak up now with one voice to celebrate and defend our Muslim citizens and their place in our diverse society. The Government also needs urgently to create real new investment in supporting community cohesion.

“As Greens we stand in solidarity with our Muslim citizens, with people seeking asylum in the UK, and every community that’s been targeted, attacked or threatened by this racist violence. We commend those in the areas targeted who have united peacefully against this hate, and support community leaders and individuals who are working to bring communities together in the face of attempts to inflame divisions.”

Notes

[1] Dame Sara Khan, who worked as Rishi Sunak’s independent adviser for social cohesion, has accused politicians of using inflammatory language which has given a green light to those holding racist views: Conservatives left UK wide open to far-right violence, says former adviser | UK security and counter-terrorism | The Guardian

Other examples of divisive rhetoric fueling the far right and racism:

Former Home Secretary Suella Braverman said 'The truth is that the Islamists, the extremists and the anti-Semites are in charge now.'

During the election Reform Party leader Nigel Farage said there are "a growing number of young people in this country who do not subscribe to British values, in fact loathe much of what we stand for", when asked about Conservative plans to bring in national service for 18-year-olds. Asked during that interview on Sky News if he was referring to Muslims, Farage said: "We are."

Former Labour MP Jonathan Ashworth said migrants are "put up in hotels and they can stay in these hotels for the rest of their lives"

Adblock test \(Why?\)