

£183 million boost for military helicopter training

A new contract has been signed to boost training services for Rotary Wing pilots.

Protecting the future of ash trees on Salisbury Plain

Ash Dieback, a serious fungal disease affecting ash trees across the country, has infected many of the woodlands on the Salisbury Plain Training Area.

Defence Secretary Ben Wallace discusses European and wider security challenges with German counterpart

Defence Secretary Ben Wallace and German Defence Minister Annegret Kramp-Karrenbauer discuss European and wider international security.

Revolutionary Artificial Intelligence warship contracts announced

The Defence and Security Accelerator (DASA) has announced the first wave of £4 million funding

Ministry of Defence lit in rainbow colours to celebrate LGB personnel

To mark 20 years since the landmark ruling allowing military personnel to serve as openly lesbian, gay or bisexual (LGB), buildings across defence have been lit in celebration.