

Social network

Social cohesion, leadership and support networks are at the heart of the success of Scotland's Monitor Farm Project, according to a new report.

New bursary at Barony

The Royal Scottish Forestry Society and Richard Davidson have created a new bursary to support those changing career into forestry.

Scotland should take the lead from EU initiative

A review of a European Union rural development programme in Scotland has recommended the continuation of a 'refreshed' approach post-Brexit.

New fellowship to grow woodland

The opportunities for woodland creation within one of Scotland's two national parks will be explored as part of a new fellowship.

Collaboration is key to adoption of agri-tech

Cross-industry collaboration is essential to the adoption of precision technology in agriculture according to Consultant Zach Reilly.