

Sheep sharing

An EU network to increase sheep productivity and flock profitability by knowledge exchange is celebrating the end of its three-year partnership with an event in Perth.

Beefing up cattle production in New Mexico

Scotland's Rural College is part of a new multi-million dollar research project investigating how to improve beef cattle production in the United States using precision farming methods.

New degrees to tackle climate change

New degrees aimed at equipping graduates with the skills to meet climate change goals are being introduced by Scotland's Rural College.

#GoSeePuja

Students are being encouraged to #GoSeePuja as part of a new campaign aimed at promoting the learning support services at SRUC's campus in Edinburgh.

Getting up to speed with smart farming

Smart farming technologies for precision agriculture will be highlighted at a free event for farmers and agri-tech companies.