Copyists Beware

Imitated but never surpassed – copyists beware. It has come to our attention that images of our own proprietary products and installations are being passed off as work by others. Our many, many years of experience in the industry cannot be replicated or ignored. Our work and intellectual property stands the test of time and our portfolio speaks for itself.

It is our understanding that a person or organisation acquiring a design or service, may inherit responsibility for any breach of ownership made by subsequent owners, users or rights owners. We would therefore be pleased to assist in avoiding this outcome by discussing and forwarding information on our products, designed and manufactured by ourselves, to those interested in tried and tested services.
