

Territory-wide anti-illegal road racing operation concludes

Police conducted a territory-wide operation between November 9 and November 17 to combat illegal road racing activities and related speeding offences to reduce traffic accidents.

During the operation, Police arrested two persons for dangerous driving and speeding, and detained 31 vehicles for examination. Police detected 919 vehicles for speeding, and issued nine summonses and 469 fixed penalty tickets for various traffic offences.

In addition, Police conducted screening breath test on 31 drivers. Among them, six drivers were unable to pass the screening breath test and were arrested.

Police appeal to motorists to be responsible and safe road users. They are urged not to speed or drive after consuming alcohol. Convicted offenders will be liable to a fine, have their driving licenses suspended or sentenced to imprisonment. Police will continue to target dangerous and careless driving behaviours.
