

The by elections

Knowing some of you will want to talk about the by elections, here is your opportunity. Each of the three parties won one. They showed continuing poor support for Conservatives, no love for a Labour replacement, and anger at Mayor Kahn's anti motorist policies. They show Lib Dem's with very low national poll figures can pull off the odd by election win. A highly subsidised investment in the West country did not impress voters there.