

'The Frying Scotsman' British-made green cars exported by train which runs on used vegetable oil

New eco-locomotive highlights the important role rail freight can play to make transport greener.