

The Great Outdoor Escape: popularity for fishing here to stay as public desire long-term connection with nature

The Environment Agency has launched a campaign calling on all potential and seasoned anglers to see their licences as more than just a legal entitlement to fish.