

The modern battlefield: harnessing the power of lasers

Two former Dstl researchers and inventors use their expertise to manufacture laser detection and protection systems for defence and security industries.