

The Queen Elizabeth Memorial Committee engages with experts and young people across the UK

Since their first meeting in February this year, the Queen Elizabeth Memorial Committee have been meeting a variety of experts and sector leaders from across the UK, to help shape their recommendations.