

Thousands of pupils receive support to boost school attendance

Government makes significant expansion to size of attendance mentoring to get thousands more persistently absent pupils back in school