

Time running out for funding vote

The clock is ticking for people to cast their votes for an innovative community project at Scotland's Rural College.