

Training launched for mental health leads in schools and colleges

Schools and colleges to benefit from a trained senior mental health lead for those who need support