

Transforming transport with location data: apply for contracts

Organisations can apply for a share of up to £2 million to explore ways of using geospatial data to tackle a variety of transport challenges.