

Transport Secretary launches review of train company revenue protection practices

The review will help restore passengers' confidence in the system.