

Two Belfast men convicted for working without licences

Two men have been given fines after working unlicensed as door supervisors at a bar in Belfast.