

UK Agri-Tech start-up lassoes deal with US ranchers

Herdsy, the cattle collar that monitors the health of the herd, is celebrating its entry into the US market with two deals set to be worth £1.4m in the next five years.