

UK and Denmark establish voting rights treaty

New agreement enhances and protects the rights of British and Danish citizens to stand and vote in local elections in each other's countries.