

UK and Germany set out joint action for people smuggling law reform

UK and Germany agree landmark plan to break the business model of people smuggling gangs, with Germany confirming intention for law change.