

UK and New Zealand agree blueprint for satellite removal and servicing missions

The UK and New Zealand space agencies have signed a blueprint for the removal and servicing of operational satellites that are very close together or making contact with one another.