

UK and US pledge to combat AI-generated images of child abuse

The US and UK have committed to developing and funding new capabilities to stop the spread of sickening AI-generated images of children.