

UK businesses continue to adapt to changes in UK internal market

OIM report suggests trade between UK nations is not a challenge for most, while policy design can minimise disruption.