

UK dedicates £140m to help countries switch to cleaner energy

Net Zero Minister Graham Stuart has announced further details of £140 million to support developing countries deliver net zero while growing their economies.