

UK establishes voting rights treaty with Poland

New agreement means both British and Polish citizens can continue to stand and vote in local elections in each other's countries.