

UK government to cut electricity bills for consumers in the north of Scotland

Proposals would spread the costs of powering Shetland across Great Britain from April 2020.