

UK Minister for the Middle East marks Jordan Centenary in Amman

The Minister for the Middle East, James Cleverly, has reaffirmed the importance of the historic relationship between the UK and Jordan on his first official visit to the country.