

UK music strikes festive chord Down Under thanks to new trade deal

The UK's trade deal with Australia is ringing in festive cheer this year, having helped British music companies expand Down Under ahead of the festive period.