

UK progress on reducing nitrate pollution

House of Commons Environmental Audit Committee today published its report on 'UK progress on reducing nitrate pollution'. This highlights that high levels of nitrate in groundwater cause oxygen depletion which is harmful to humans and biodiversity.