

UK scales up support to end violence against children during UK Minister's first visit to Colombia

UK is scaling up support to tackle the global issue of violence against young people, Latin America Minister Baroness Chapman announces at an international conference in Bogotá