

UK scientists use Euclid spacecraft to probe mysteries of dark Universe

A 'treasure trove' of data, including papers authored by UK scientists, has been released from the Euclid space telescope, alongside the largest images of the Universe ever taken from space.