

UK soldiers test next generation of body-worn technology

Major advances have been made in body-worn technology for UK soldiers, improving their operational advantage.