

UK space innovation programme launches with fund for climate change and communications projects

New National Space Innovation Programme to provide £15 million to support pioneering ideas in UK space sector