

UK statement: Taliban imposes medical training ban on women and girls

The UK government expresses concerns following reports of the Taliban's decision to suspend medical education for women and girls in Afghanistan