

UK unveils funding boost to help forest nations fight climate change

Government pledges £239 million funding to halt and reverse deforestation in forest-rich nations, supporting global efforts to tackle climate change