

Chevening Alumni Programme Fund 2020-21 for Turkey is now open

If you have an idea for a project that promotes innovative solutions to global or community challenges, start preparing your bids as soon as possible.

Please remember that your projects should be delivered between 1 April 2020 and 31 March 2021.

What are the objectives of CAPF?

The CAPF supports Chevening alumni activities across the globe in order to create the most engaged, active and impactful international scholarship alumni network in the world.

The fund is allocated annually on a competitive basis to projects that:

- Support this network to create positive change in their countries, regions or on global issues, where this contributes to UK foreign policy priorities and/or UK values; and
- Promote contact and relationships between Chevening alumni, and between the FCO and Chevening alumni, by providing opportunities for networks to be built and for ideas to be exchanged.

Who is eligible?

All scholars and fellows since 1983 who have completed their Chevening award, including alumni who studied through co-funded partnership scholarships (for example Chevening/HSBC or Chevening/OSI) are eligible to apply.

Current scholars/fellows, applicants or those who did not take up an award are not eligible.

You can make as many bids as you like, but if multiple projects are actually part of a larger project plan by a single implementer, please submit only one proposal, breaking down in your bid the different activity streams.

Please read through the guidance documents below, fill in the bidding form provided and submit your bids to Hande.Celikel@fco.gov.uk , CC: Ilayda.Ciloglu@fco.gov.uk until 10 January 2020.

Joint statement on delays to Somaliland parliamentary and local council elections

We, the undersigned regional and international partners of Somaliland, recall the significant agreement between political parties in July 2019 which recognised the “critical importance of holding the long due Parliamentary and Local Council Elections” and “agreed to hold the elections as soon as they will be politically and technically possible”. We are concerned that events have significantly undermined these commitments to the detriment of Somaliland’s democratic credentials and international standing. Likewise, we are deeply concerned by instances of seemingly arbitrary detentions and by increased restrictions on freedom of expression.

We are especially concerned by the decision of the Guurti to extend both House of Representatives and Guurti’s mandates to January 2022 and January 2023 respectively. Both Houses, established to represent the women and men of Somaliland, have been sitting for a period much too long by any democratic standards. Local councils have been operating without a democratic mandate since April 2019.

We therefore call on the government and all political actors to reaffirm, through both words and deeds, the long-standing culture of mutual agreement, consensus and compromise, to find a way through this current impasse in order for both parliamentary and local elections to take place without any further delay, well before the end of the calendar year 2020. As long-standing partners for the progress of Somaliland during the last 25 years, we praise the ongoing local mediation efforts and underline that for us to support the electoral process, it must promote political inclusiveness and the full respect of the law. As a solid foundation of such a process, there needs to be an Electoral Commission that inspires broad trust from all political actors as well as from the citizens of Somaliland.

Only strong, democratically elected institutions can deliver the development outcomes that the people of Somaliland deserve. This is also what we as partners expect from our cooperation with Somaliland.

The statement was signed by the following international partners; United Nations, IGAD, European Union, United States of America, Germany, United Kingdom, Norway, Ireland, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark, The Netherlands, Finland, France, Italy, Greece, Switzerland.

Gradings under review for two registered providers of social housing

The Regulator of Social Housing reports that two providers: Cheshire Peaks & Plains Housing Trust and ForHousing Limited, have been placed on its gradings under review list today (27 November 2019).

The regulator notifies that a provider's grading is under review when its compliant grade (G1 and G2 for governance, V1 or V2 for viability) is being investigated in relation to an issue which may result in a downgrade to a non-compliant grade (G3 or G4 for governance, V3 or V4 for viability).

Cheshire Peak's current grade is G1/V1 and ForHousing's current grade is G2/V1. The regulator is currently investigating a matter which may impact on the providers' compliance with the governance element of the Governance and Financial Viability Standard. The outcome of the investigations will be confirmed in updated regulatory judgements once completed.

The regulator's gradings under review list is available on the website.

Note to editors

1. The GUR lists providers being investigated for an issue that may result in non-compliant grades for the regulator's Governance and Financial Viability Standard.
2. The regulatory standards can be found on the RSH website.
3. RSH promotes a viable, efficient and well-governed social housing sector able to deliver homes that meet a range of needs. It does this by undertaking robust economic regulation focusing on governance, financial viability and value for money that maintains lender confidence and protects the taxpayer. It also sets consumer standards and may take action if these standards are breached and there is a significant risk of serious detriment to tenants or potential tenants.

Edition 20: News from the Adjudicator

With the end of 2019 fast approaching this is a good opportunity to bring readers up to date with my activities including how I am working with the retailers to help them embed a whole-organisation approach to Code compliance. I also wanted to alert those with an interest in the GCA to my upcoming webinar and encourage you to save the date for a number of events at which I will be speaking. Don't forget I am always ready to meet suppliers individually at these events.

Webinar, videos and other information online

On Wednesday 11 December at 11am I am hosting a webinar to provide an update on my work and answer your questions. The webinar is open to all retailers and suppliers with an interest in the Code and I hope many of you can join me. Please register to receive webinar joining instructions. The webinar will begin with a short introductory presentation on my current activities and then there will be plenty of time to ask questions. Please feel free to ask these anonymously if you prefer.

I have had feedback that it would be useful to find all information relating to particular Code-related issues in one place. As a result I have added a new page on the GCA website, setting out material relating to particular paragraphs of the Code. Do take a look at this to find out more about the Code.

I also speak about specific aspects of the Code in a series of new bite-size videos on the GCA YouTube channel. The videos cover:

TJ Morris Limited now covered by the Code

On 3 September 2019 the Competition and Markets Authority \(CMA\) designated TJ Morris Limited, trading as Home Bargains. I welcome this announcement and look forward to working with Home Bargains. I have had introductory meetings with their Code Compliance Officer (CCO) and visited their Head Office in Liverpool to meet the wider team including their buyers. Contact details for their CCO have been added to the contact list page on the GCA website.

The CMA considers designation of additional retailers on an annual basis and I would encourage suppliers to contact the CMA directly if they believe there are other retailers that should come under the Code.

Update on work with the retailers

Following the announcement I made at this year's conference, I have been working with each of the designated retailers to ensure they are taking a proactive approach to ensuring Code compliance is embedded at all levels in each business. I want to see this approach consistently reflected in all their internal systems and processes.

As part of this exercise, the designated retailers (with the exception of TJ Morris due to the timing of their designation) have each explained to me how their practices, systems and behaviours are designed to meet their obligations under the Code. I will be following up with the retailers shortly.

I am still working with Co-operative Group Limited (Co-op) on their implementation of the recommendations I made following my investigation – you can read the Co-op investigation report here. Co-op is required to report to me on a quarterly basis about its progress in following my recommendations.

I have recently raised two new areas with the retailers. I have been working with the original 10 designated retailers following supplier concerns raised about retailer requirements that they use particular crate and tray suppliers and pay associated charges either to those companies or to retailers as handling charges. In addition, I have asked retailers to provide information to me about buying alliances and other arrangements they may have, to ensure that they have considered how the Code could apply to the different arrangements they may have in place. I will be working on these issues with each retailer to understand their processes further and to ensure the retailer has considered them from the perspective of Code compliance.

In November, I held my one-to-one meetings with each of the designated retailers' CCOs. These meetings are now held three times a year, with the next series planned for February 2020. You can read a summary of the November meetings.

I have also just completed my 2019 meetings with the chairs of the audit committees (or equivalent) of the retailers. I see these meetings as a valuable part of the retailers' whole-organisation approach to Code compliance. We discussed the latest GCA survey results and the retailers' Annual Compliance Reports.

The quality of the Annual Compliance Reports continues to improve and the number of supplier issues recorded by retailers also increased again, indicating that there is better recording by retailers of issues that arise. Eight retailers reported more issues than in the previous year. The two top Code issues raised by suppliers this year are delay in payments and De-listing. A significant number of issues have been resolved in favour of the supplier, at 71% for issues related to delay in payments and 69% for issues related to De-listing.

It is good to see that the information retailers are putting into the public domain has also improved, including retailers being more transparent about issues raised by suppliers.

I think the retailers can still go further and in the meetings with CCOs and audit chairs, I explained that there is scope for better and more detailed recording of issues raised by suppliers. This would enable retailers to capture the broadest range of useful supplier information. I would like retailers to continue to focus on how they collect and record information about Code-related issues raised in their business.

I continue to encourage suppliers to get in touch to tell me about their experiences by emailing Enquiries@GroceriesCode.gov.uk or calling 0207 215 6537.

I also would like to welcome Faye Williams as my new Head of Office – she can be contacted at Faye.Williams@GroceriesCode.gov.uk.

Warmest wishes for a successful Christmas and New Year.
