

The Bombardier partnership with Airbus is welcome, but should not justify the Government taking its foot off the pedal – Long-Bailey

Rebecca

Long-Bailey MP, Labour's Shadow Secretary of State for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy, commenting on Bombardier partnering with Airbus on C-Series jets, said:

"This partnership is a welcome step in the right direction for Bombardier, Airbus and their workers and the pairing of two cutting edge product lines is exciting for the future of aerospace manufacturing.

"However, this should in no way justify the Government taking its foot off the pedal in the US tariff dispute with Boeing. The Government must ensure that unjust tariffs are removed and existing jobs protected."

Inflation has reached its highest level in five years following Tory economic failure – Peter Dowd

Peter Dowd MP, Labour's Chief Secretary to the Treasury, responding to today's inflation figures by the ONS, said:

"Inflation has reached its highest level in five years, while real earnings are still lower than in 2010, following seven years of Tory economic failure.

"Only Labour will deliver a £10 per hour Real Living Wage, investment in infrastructure, and an effective industrial strategy to raise living standards and build an economy for the many, not the few."

Rise in hate crime is unacceptable – Diane Abbott MP

Diane Abbott MP, Labour's Shadow Home Secretary, responding to today's Home Office figures on hate crime, said:

"This rise in hate crime is unacceptable, especially after a drop in police referrals has seen a fall in prosecutions.

"The Tories have made great claims about tackling burning injustices. But they are clearly not tackling the great injustice of being attacked simply because of your religion, your sexuality, the colour of your skin or your disability.

"Labour will hire 10,000 extra police to ensure there are sufficient officers working in the community who can help tackle crimes like this. The Tories continue to make police cuts and, in their own words, they have created a 'hostile environment' for migrants. Amber Rudd needs to urgently come to Parliament and explain what the Government's response will be to address this serious failing."

The derisory offer made by the Chancellor to prison and police officers last month was in reality a pay cut – John McDonnell MP

John McDonnell MP, Labour's Shadow Chancellor, commenting on the TUC report on public sector pay, said:

“This report by the TUC confirms that the derisory offer made by the Chancellor to prison and police officers last month was in reality a pay cut, as Labour pointed out at the time. It also lays bare in detail the cruelty of the Tories’ public sector pay cap across our public sector, at a time when wages continue to fail to keep up with prices.

“The next Labour government will ensure that our dedicated public sector workers are truly recognised for what they do for their communities by ending the Tories’ public sector pay cap for all public sector workers.”

The boundary review must benefit our democracy, not just the Conservative Party – Cat Smith MP

Cat Smith MP, Labour’s Shadow Minister for Voter Engagement and Youth Affairs, commenting on the Boundary Commission’s proposals, said:

“Labour stands ready to work with all parties to ensure that a boundary review can go ahead in a way that benefits our democracy, not just the Conservative Party. However it has been clear from the start that the Tories have only been interested in their own political advantage rather than what is in the best interests of the country.

“To lose 50 MPs at a time we are repatriating powers from Brussels as we leave the European Union risks leaving the UK Government struggling to keep up with the day to day requirements of legislation.

“They need to drop their unfair, undemocratic plans, as well as ensuring the review is based on the most up-to-date register and that there is appropriate flexibility to take into account community ties and geography.”
