

Made in Scotland: securing our manufacturing future

This week the First Minister launched the UK's first liquefied natural gas ferry in Port Glasgow – just over three years since the Ferguson shipyard was saved from closure.

Go to Source

Author:

Every child deserves a forever home

As a former Children's Panel member, I know that there are so many wonderful children across Scotland that need and deserve somewhere to belong and to be happy.

Go to Source

Author:

The future's far from bright in Brexit Britain

The UK Chancellor has published his budget plans for the year ahead. When you look beyond all the Tory smoke and mirrors, this budget makes very gloomy reading.

Go to Source

Author:

Universal Credit forces terminally ill people to “self-certify” that they are dying

Elaine Donnelly says she's battle weary. Numb. Elaine isn't a Universal Credit claimant nor is she a politician, she just tries to help the sick and the dying to navigate the complexities of their Universal Credit claims.

Go to Source

Author:

The UK budget: what it means for you

The Chancellor, Philip Hammond, has delivered another Tory austerity budget that cuts funding for public services but protects the super-rich.

Go to Source

Author: