

Brexit news this week

This week marked 20 years since Scotland's devolution referendum. And the legislation to repeal the UK's EU membership also took a big step forward at Westminster – threatening to undermine the devolution settlement people in Scotland voted for in 1997.

Go to Source

Author:

Our plan for Scotland: tackling poverty and inequality

Nicola Sturgeon has announced the Scottish Government's plans for the year ahead. It sets out bold new measures to make Scotland the fairer nation we all want it to be.

Go to Source

Author:

Our plan for Scotland: supporting businesses

Nicola Sturgeon has announced the Scottish Government's plans for the year ahead. We want Scotland to be the best place in the world to do business and our Programme for Government sets out the further steps we will take to achieve this.

Go to Source

Author:

The Tory power grab risks 111 Scottish Parliament powers

Twenty years ago, people across Scotland were celebrating the referendum result which restored a Scottish Parliament.

Go to Source

Author:

EU Withdrawal Bill: what happens now?

The EU (Withdrawal) Bill, the 'Repeal Bill', sets out the legal framework for the UK leaving the EU. It has now passed its latest Parliamentary hurdle at Westminster – here's everything you need to know.

Go to Source

Author: