

GERS figures explained

Today the Scottish Government published Government Expenditure and Revenue Scotland – or ‘GERS’ for short – for the year 2016-17.

GERS: a snapshot of Scotland’s finances – not the full picture

Tomorrow sees the publication of the annual Government Expenditure and Revenue Scotland (GERS) figures for the most recent financial year.

Our action for island communities

Scotland has over 790 islands and more than 10,000 miles of coastline. Our islands are home to stunning scenery, world-famous whisky distilleries, and fantastic musical and cultural festivals.

Statement from Scottish and Welsh First Ministers on protecting devolution

First Minister Nicola Sturgeon and Carwyn Jones, First Minister of Wales, are meeting today to discuss working together to protect devolution from a Westminster power grab. Here’s what they said ahead of the meeting.

10,000 parents register for the Baby Box in one week

Every child deserves the best start in life, whatever their background.