

SNP win the Scottish council elections

The SNP has won Scotland's council elections, winning more councillors, more votes and more councils than any other party.

The SNP at Westminster: a strong voice for Scotland

Your team of SNP MPs have been a strong voice for Scotland, standing against Tory cuts.

Not only have they been the real opposition at Westminster but they cost less than the Labour and Liberal Democrat MPs they replaced.

5 ways SNP councils will deliver for young people

On Thursday people across Scotland will go to the polls to elect their local council.

The cost of a Tory vote

We've already seen the damage the Tories can do, first with no majority and then with a small majority. But in the last few months it's become clearer what an emboldened, out-of-control Tory government would mean.

We will put no limits on our ambitions for Glasgow

This Thursday, voters across Scotland will go to the polls to decide who runs their local council for the next 5 years.
