

'Untapped potential' – opportunity for developing women in agriculture

Developing the role of women is key to the survival of Scottish agriculture, according to a Scottish Government Taskforce.