

Update on investigation of suspected Mycobacterium abscessus infection cluster

The Centre for Health Protection (CHP) of the Department of Health (DH) today (November 7) provided an update on the investigation of the suspected Mycobacterium abscessus infection cluster. No additional cases or venues where injections took place were identified today, and currently the suspected Mycobacterium abscessus infection cluster involved a total of 17 females.

The CHP has set up for the related cases an enquiry hotline (2125 2372), which operates from Monday to Friday (excluding public holidays) from 9am to 5.30pm to receive enquiries. The hotline was set up on November 3 and as of 3pm today, 16 calls were received, among which five females, aged 25 to 32, said that they had received relevant injection services and developed compatible symptoms.

According to the latest investigation findings, people who have patronised the following three premises, or have arranged and received relevant injections via the four relevant Instagram social media accounts after which they presented with relevant symptoms, are urged to seek medical attention and contact the CHP as soon as possible. Officers of the CHP will assess their condition and arrange for follow-ups as appropriate.

Based on information obtained in a preliminary investigation, the CHP cannot rule out the possibility of illegal medical practice. Investigations are ongoing.

The DH reminded members of the public that injection procedures should only be performed by a locally registered doctor. Customers should look for his or her full name against the list of registered doctors of the Medical Council of Hong Kong as well as his or her professional qualifications and relevant experience. The DH also urged the public to observe the health advice below before receiving injections:

- Understand the procedure, potential risks and complications before receiving injections. Consult a doctor for an informed decision;
- Do not receive an injection in the case of a history of allergy to the injection, or infection or inflammation on the injection site;
- Request the full name of the doctor in writing if referred by a beauty service provider for the procedure, as well as the professional qualifications and relevant experience; and
- If symptoms develop, such as fever or feeling unwell, seek medical attention immediately.
