Following the latest reports of infighting within the SNP following the Alex Salmond crowdfunding appeal, the Scottish Conservatives are calling for the Scottish Government to focus on governing the country.

Jackson Carlaw, Scottish Conservative deputy leader said:

“The failure of Nicola Sturgeon to condemn in the strongest possible terms Alex Salmond’s grubby crowdfunding campaign speaks volumes.

“It’s quite obvious that Alex Salmond is keeping the nationalist troops happy with the new cause, while Nicola Sturgeon prepares to drop IndyRef2.

“While this unedifying process is taking place the SNP is consumed by factions and chaos.

“The Scottish people deserve a Scottish Government focused on the important job of governing the country, not on in-fighting and independence.”
