

Waste not

Scottish farmers are being encouraged to work closely with retailers to accurately record food waste and help ensure that more fruit and vegetables make their way along the supply chain.