

Welcome for reports which set out ways to improve government

The Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Michael Gove, has welcomed reports published today, which set out ways to improve government, including tackling legacy IT systems and improving civil service recruitment.