

Whistleblowing portal launched in latest water company crackdown

The Environment Agency's portal will allow water industry workers to report serious environmental wrongdoing by their organisations.