

Wildlife monitoring project on British Army training area in Belize captures footage of courting jaguar pair

Extremely rare footage of a pair of jaguars displaying mating behaviours has been captured in a training area used by the British Army in Belize.