

Woman sentenced for breaching compulsory quarantine order

A 19-year-old woman was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, suspended for 12 months by the Shatin Magistrates' Courts today (November 18) for violating the Compulsory Quarantine of Certain Persons Arriving at Hong Kong Regulation (Cap. 599C) (the Regulation).

The woman was earlier issued a compulsory quarantine order stating that she must conduct quarantine at home for 14 days. Before the expiry of the quarantine order, she left the place of quarantine twice on May 15 and 16 without reasonable excuse nor permission given by an authorised officer. She was charged with two counts of contravening Sections 8(1) and 8(5) of the Regulation and was sentenced by the Shatin Magistrates' Courts today to 14 days' imprisonment, suspended for 12 months for each of the two charges, which are to run concurrently.

Pursuant to the Regulation, starting from February 8, save for exempted persons, all persons who have stayed in the Mainland, Macao or Taiwan in the 14 days preceding arrival in Hong Kong, regardless of their nationality or travel documents, will be subject to compulsory quarantine for 14 days. Moreover, pursuant to the Compulsory Quarantine of Persons Arriving at Hong Kong from Foreign Places Regulation (Cap. 599E), starting from March 19, all persons arriving from countries or territories outside China would also be subject to compulsory quarantine for 14 days. Breaching a quarantine order is a criminal offence and offenders are subject to a maximum fine of $25,000 and imprisonment for six months.

A spokesman for the Department of Health said the sentence sends a clear message to the community that breaching a compulsory quarantine order is a criminal offence that the Government will not tolerate, and solemnly reminded the public to comply with the Regulation. As of today, a total of 69 persons have been convicted by the courts for breaching compulsory quarantine orders and have received sentences including imprisonment for up to three months or a fine of $15,000. The spokesman reiterated that resolute actions will be taken against anyone who has breached the relevant regulations.
